Introduction

My research interests include the teaching and learning of Research Design and Methodology, Syntax/Grammatical Structures with Tree Diagrams, Written and Oral Corrective Feedback, Academic Writing, CDA, EAP, and ERPP. I am currently working on five research projects: (1) Return to Research Project; (2) Teacher Power Profiling Using CDA; (3) Using Drama Techniques in EFL Secondary School Classrooms; (4) Rationale for Code-Switching by Libyan EFL Lecturers; (5) Oral Corrective Feedback Strategies in Teaching EFL Grammar.

Resumen

Los niños practican el juego a lo largo de todas las etapas del desarrollo. Es una actividad libre, espontánea, que encarna alegría y diversión y se muestra en distintas formas: puede ser individual en ciertos períodos y colectivo en otros; en cierto sentido, para el niño es un lenguaje simbólico por medio del cual se expresa a sí mismo (auto-expresión). A través del trato con sus juguetes y las formas con que construye la dinámica lúdica, se puede entender mucho sobre él: su confianza en sí mismo, sus emociones, sus sentimientos hacia sí mismo y hacia las personas significativas en su vida, además de los acontecimientos vividos por él.
