

GORD

Done by Group 3

Supervised by Dr Hisham Alrabty

Case presentation:

Nada 2 months old Libyan infant presented to ER with history of cough and progressive Shortness of breath 3 days back after episode of checking on feeding her by bottle .

She was product of NVD and birth weight was 3.1 kg vaccinated uptodate and she had uneventful postnatal period apart from history of repeated vomiting and one attack of choking.

O/E she was tachypnic distressed and her RR was 60 c/m her chest was full of rhonchi and initial investigations results were normal but CXR showed opacity in upper Rt zone.

Questions:

1. What is most possible diagnosis going with this case scenario?
2. What is DDx ?
3. How to diagnose this condition?
4. What is treatment of this condition?
5. What are the complications of this condition?